The PLEYEL sound

The beautiful story of Ignace Pleyel, a renowned composer and piano maker, and creator of the Pleyel sound, began in Paris in 1807.

The House of Pleyel is proud to see its famous romantic sound perpetuated through the traditional manufacturing of its renowned pianos, the prestigious Salle Pleyel concert hall in Paris, and now, through elegant living room speakers designed to delight music lovers.

Harmony of timbres, roundness of bass, richness of midrange, and brilliance of treble characterize Pleyel audio products, whose listening softness will seduce the most delicate ears.

IMPERATOR 250

The House of Pleyel is proud to continue its famous sound through the IMPERATOR 250 and enhances its first speaker with a black or white lacquer finish, reminiscent of the brand's pianos.
